

Forget the golf balls: 8 must-haves for traveling dads this Father's Day

June 11, 2014

Forget the ties and golf balls this year.

Make dad say "wow" with something new and innovative that he can use every single day. Fathers who travel for business aren't the only "traveling dads."

We've got every budget and every type of father covered, and rounded up eight travel-oriented gift ideas which will take dad to the gym, to school when he's picking up the kids, across the country on a family summer vacation, or around the world.

Happy Father's Day -- and happy traveling.

For the "There Aren't Enough Hours In The Day" Dad

Double your airplane tray space with Aero-Tray, an ergonomic portable work station with a double-decker mode to provide an elevated work surface and cup holder. The Aero-Tray has an inclined keyboard support for laptops, which allows you to comfortably work on your laptop-- even when the traveler in front of you reclines their airline seat. In an age when airline space is shrinking, the Aero-Tray allows frequent flier dads to maximize their personal space in the sky.

Where to buy: Aero Tray
MSRP: $59.95